Cycle for Survival

Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center's indoor team-cycling fundraiser, Cycle for Survival, took place February 5, 12, and 13, at Equinox Fitness Clubs in Chicago, Long Island, and Manhattan. Founded to build awareness and lifesaving funding for cancer research, Cycle for Survival has raised over 5.5 million dollars in four years, funding thirteen research studies and clinical trials. This year over 4,000 people participated, including Saturday Night Live's Seth Meyers. To donate, visit cycleforsurvival.org.
